About the Programme

The Post Graduate Diploma in Education is an evening programme with an expected duration of 12 months. The medium of instruction for the programme is either Chinese or English (subject to student enrollment). The PGDE recruits in-service teachers and graduates from a full range of disciplines and provides professional attitudes, skills and competences related to teaching and learning in Macau schools.

The course promotes active and collaborative styles of learning to engage students in professional training and development. In the initial stage of the programme, students complete the course work, comprising six common scholastic modules plus one specialized module, after which they may progress to the final stage and complete their teaching practice in schools under the guidance of an experienced teacher and a university tutor. Students without previous experience in teaching are placed in an appropriate partner school to gain the necessary practical teaching experience.

Programme Structure
